Objectives and Investment Policy

Objectives and Investment Policy

The Sub-Fund aims to generate long-term capital growth. It takes long and short exposure to stocks issued by companies worldwide (including Emerging Markets), as well as in cash. The Investment Manager implements its strategy by investing in companies that it believes to be undervalued and by using derivative instruments to seek negative exposure to companies that it believes to be overvalued. The investment approach applied by the Investment Manager to select securities will be based on proprietary responsible criteria which includes environmental, social, ethical and/or corporate governance factors. In addition to these selection criteria, the Investment Manager may apply a screen to exclude certain companies from the investment universe based on a specific environmental, social, ethical and/or corporate governance scoring methodology of companies. The sub-fund may be net long or short. The sub-fund may invest in other financial instruments (including bonds and convertible bonds). Derivatives may be used to achieve the investment objective and to reduce risk or manage the fund more efficiently.

Risk and Reward Profile

What does it mean?

This indicator (SRRI) represents the annualized historical volatility of the Sub-Fund over a 5-year period. Where there are less than 5 years worth of data, missing returns are simulated using an appropriate benchmark. The SRRI may change over time and should not be used as an indicator of future risk or returns. Even the lowest risk classification does not imply that the Sub-Fund is risk-free or that capital is necessarily guaranteed or protected.

Category

The Sub-Fund primarily invests in a diversified portfolio of shares issued by companies worldwide (including Emerging Markets). Portfolio volatility is reduced as the Sub-Fund implements several long/short strategies which have their focus on different economic sectors while limiting concentration risk.

Are there any other particular risks?

The following risks may be materially relevant but may not always be adequately captured by the synthetic risk indicator and may cause additional loss:

- Counterparty risk: When a fund is backed by a guarantee from a third party, or where its investment exposure is obtained to a material degree through one or more contracts with a counterparty, there could be a material risk that the counterparty to the transactions will fail to honor its contractual obligations. This may result in a financial loss to the Fund.
- Risks linked to the use of derivatives and financial techniques: Derivatives and other financial techniques used substantially to obtain, increase or reduce exposure to assets may be difficult to value, may generate leverage, and may not yield the anticipated results. All of this could be detrimental to fund performance.
- Active management risk: Active management relies on anticipating various market developments and/or security selection. There is a risk at any given time that the fund may not be invested in the highest-performing markets or securities. The fund's net asset value may also decline.

For more details about risk, see appendix B "Risk Factors" of the prospectus.
